

“The Child”
Proverbs 22:6
Derek Slack

I believe that all the parents in this room (not just dads), or people who teach, or anyone who helps in the raising of children in any way know that this is no easy task. As the family continues to grow in discourse throughout the world, there seems to be an even higher demand for families of faith to be strong and rooted.

What about parents, who over the years have raised their children well and their kids still go AWOL? We might hear or say this, “What have we done wrong?”

First, we will look at the effects of misunderstanding, then we will look at the two very important biblical truths surrounding this very important passage.

1. It can produce _____

2. We are called to _____

3. The greatest need is _____
